YOUTH PROGRAM

for

ABORIGINAL YOUNG PEOPLE

DARDI MUNWURRO IS A CHILD SAFE ORGANISATION

ABOUT US

The Dardi Munwurro Youth program provides a wide variety of services and support for Aboriginal young females and males living in Melbourne's inner North and South Eastern regions.

Services include:

- Youth Hub - a safe place to gather, connect, learn and be with other Aboriginal youth
- Events
- Regular meetings and gatherings
- Camps
- Support services

OUR AIM

The youth program aims to assist Aboriginal young females and males along their transition to adulthood, assisting them to grow into healthy young adults with positive support networks within their peer group and the broader community.

We help to prepare young people for adult life through one-on-one mentoring, self-empowerment and resilience workshops and team activities.

The target group for the program is young Aboriginal females and males in the following age groups:

- 10-17 years of age
- 18-25 years of age

The program is voluntary and has a focus on cultural connections.
